I am writing to complain about the badly organised event at the Park Royal Hotel yesterday. My husband and I tried twice to get into the event, the car parking was chaotic, there were cars trying to get in and out and people were parking everywhere. We gave up even trying because of the queues to get into the hotel we are pensioners and did not want to wait for 2 hours outside and expect a lot of other people gave up as well. It could have been raining or cold & windy which would have made it worse. The whole thing was a complete shambles.

How can people be well informed about something which will affect their lives so much when you obviously don't care about organising this properly, the event should have been held, if not all day then at least for 2 days. I know there is another event at the Pyramid which I expect will be equally as difficult to get in if not more so because of lack of parking so a lot of people will be put off going.

Also we did not even know about the Local Plan until last week.
