Dear developers

My initial objection to building on the greenbelt land in Lymm was sent to the wrong email address. I have been informed that my objection will still be accepted because of this error. I strongly disagree with building on greenbelt land in Lymm, there are many brownfield sites and buildings within Warrington centre that could be developed for accomodation instead of being empty boarded up shops. This would provide lower cost living and improve the town centre.

I also object to the status of Warrington changing from a town to a city. It is not a city and this is just a con to get around building regulations. I have very little faith in WBC with regards to manipulation of building regulations.
