Warrington Borough Council

I would like to ask the council what experience, knowledge or expertise any of the members have in making this decision for the people of Warrington. Do you all live in the borough and are all of you intimate with the problems already existing for the town?

On paper it can be seen that the proposed amount of houses for the area are possible. Unfortunately lives are not lived on paper. That is why it is important that the councillors have a living and working knowledge of all areas of the town, schools, hospital, roads, shops and all other aspects of living in today's Warrington and areas. Not just a glimpse but a real daily working and living existence.

I live in Great Sankey and regularly walk around my area and into to Warrington town via several different routes. The footpath, road, parks and hedges are all littered. If the council are unable to look after such a minor problem with the number of residents as of now, how are we to expect them to do so with the greater amount of people that is proposed? Also, if they are unable to find a solution to this litter how on earth do they think they are capable of making the right decision for future generations of Warrington.

Yours sincerely,

A most concerned Warrington resident.
