Comments: My concern about this application is access via red lane and the roads running between red lane and the A49. I use red lane both walking and in a car both of which are difficult and when on foot require walking in the road where there are no pavements. Birchdale road, that is already used as a rat run, has no pavements and in places is only wide enough for one car. The bridle way is a major amenity used by hundreds of walkers each week. Would the bridlway be maintained? Would Birchdale road be widened and resurfaced?
