Oh dear god what are you thinking.

I can be much more eloquent but the desire to decimate south Warrington appears to be something of an obsession.

Despite already building and agreeing 1000 new homes in the area the local authority appear to believe it is sensible to decimate the entire area.

Exactly what do you have against, quality of life and green belt land for those residents who have worked long and hard to afford to live in Appleton, Appleton thorn and the surrounding areas. Is there some political obsession to ruin our lives.

As a resident [REDACTED] I am now appalled to hear that the desire to solve traffic congestion in the area is to build a bizarre and stupid road between Park Royal hotel and the roundabout [REDACTED] in dipping brook avenue. I really can't imagine the logic for such nonsense. It must be regarded as the most poorly considered decision the council has ever contemplated thus far.

Why is there an obsession with WBC and a garden city to build 5000 or so houses beyond Appleton thorn. That disaster will need better access to and from the motorway.

The white flag of health centres is ridiculous when Warrington already has vacant GP positions as the NHS cannot fund it.

Can I ask does Eddie Stobart. Sit on the council.

He seems to get a lot of support. I don't think those poorly paid staff from Manchester will be buying in the car park that is Warrington.

I have a business in Stockton Heath that I commute to on a motorbike as the traffic through Stockton Heath is already so bad.

I will aim to relocate my business to Manchester to assist staff who travel from Manchester, Oldham and Liverpool. Warrington is already congested and extremely vulnerable to motorway related issues.

Why doesn't WBC have a sensible chat with Halton and build your new landscape plot on the Gemini site that will have better access to both Manchester and Liverpool and avoiding the need for people getting stuck on the A49 through Warrington and also to avoid the accident black spot that is the wall viaduct and the M6 J20 accident (lorries falling over) nightmare.

You are not making this town any better with such crap ideas you are making it worse. Why don't you simply fix what we have, what we like and what we moved here for before destroying it. Those that want to live in a car park city like Manchester or Liverpool should just move. Those that move to nice towns like Warrington should be respected and listened to.

For gods sake and everybody already living here please make a few sensible decisions. Build the brownfield sites first, develop Gemini and then see what you need. It most certainly isn't this.

Joseph Ryan
